Connecticut's early prison release program is flawed. Under our current system, violent felons who have been released early from prison have gone on to commit terrible crimes, including brutal murders.

On Wednesday, April 1, a public hearing will be held on Senate Bill 1129 proposal that aims to reform the early release system.

- The bill adds manslaughter, persistent dangerous felons and sex offenders, aggravated sexual assault of a minor, and assault of pregnant woman resulting in loss of fetus as crimes for which a person cannot earn risk reduction credits.
- The bill would also require a prison warden to review and sign off on risk reduction credits earned by an inmate.

I support that Senate Bill 1129 be approved to keep violent and dangerous criminals off the street. Honest and law-abiding citizens need to be protected and I am requesting that you do your moral duty.
